The event promises a packed programme, with panels exploring the current issues confronting the gaming and amusements sectors, along with insightful views on what the future is likely to hold.

The 2018 event has a broader agenda than previous years, resulting in registrations from manufacturers, operators and distributors, in addition to the traditional support from regulators, trade associations and gaming law specialists.

For many attendees, the networking opportunities are as important as the formal sessions and Organisers have taken care to ensure that there will be ample time for relaxed discussions and exchange of views at coffee and lunch breaks, as well as evening drinks receptions.

The social highlight of the Summit will be the Gala Evening, taking place at the end of the first full day. Through the kind sponsorship of The Gauselmann Group, all attendees and their partners will be treated to a full buffet-style dinner, along with drinks and entertainment in the spectacular setting of the Terrace Las Brisas, between the lagoon and the Mediterranean at the Monte Carlo Bay Hotel.

EUROMAT President Jason Frost explains, "The Gala Dinner will add a real sense of occasion to the Summit and we thank The Gauselmann Group for their exceptional generosity. The Group has really got behind the 2018 event, not only as sponsors of the Gala Evening, but through GeWeTe's Networking Break sponsorship and the Group's support of the Summit Programme. In fact four of the Summit sessions will have contributions from senior managers from the Gauselmann Group. This is a major commitment, reflecting Gauselmann Group's presence within the market and is very much appreciated," thanked Jason.
